

Are Incumbent Politicians Using The Coronavirus and Census To Prepare For Voter Fraud

Did Nonpartisan Presidential Candidate Chance Trahan Just Expose The Next Wave Of Voter Fraud

LOS ANGELES - April 14, 2020 - PRLog -- Voter fraud running rampant in the United States isn't a secret, and with the Primary Election to pick the next President being right around the corner, this fact is driving Nonpartisan Presidential Candidate, Chance Trahan, up the wall.

"We've got a problem on our hands, and this time it's at a level we've never seen before," states Trahan.

Chance elaborates, "I'm under the impression that Big Government is using the situation of having to file the federally required 2020 Census and registering with the IRS to collect the Coronavirus stimulus checks in order to know what identities that they can steal so they can commit voter fraud to get this incumbent Donald Trump reelected."

You can tell that Chance Trahan is frustrated by the way that he's expressing his concerns, "I'm not going to stand for this! No one is above the law, however, the people in office are so desperate to keep their status and themselves from being properly investigated and convicted of the crimes that they're allegedly guilty of, that they're actually going well out of their way to try to secure this next election by any means necessary. They obviously consider themselves above the law, and it's a strong indicator that they have a mental illness."

"If you're wondering how that would all work if they were to get away with this, it's simple. They use the Census and the filings at the IRS to check to see who's dead and who's alive. The people who are thought to be deceased, they would have groups in private locations that receive a significant amount of blank mail-in ballots that would take the identities of those who were believed to be no longer living, and they would place votes for them even though they're deceased. This type of Voter Fraud scam was pulled before, and now Trump has called upon the help of several Governors through means of the 'Coronavirus pandemic' in order to pull this off in their state just to try to avoid convictions of treason and fraud. So, allow me to reiterate for those of you in the back that can't hear me. The incumbent US President, Donald Trump, is taking the coward's way out by committing more fraud to attempt to cover up his blatant fraud. He did this with the Russian Collusion hoax, he did this with the Air Pelosi issue, and now he's doing this with the Coronavirus emergency," the unofficially elected Sheriff of Clark County, Las Vegas, Nevada, Chance Trahan, says.
