

Did Chance Trahan Expose The Deep State

Deep State Media Is Obsessed With Cyberstalking Nonpartisan Presidential Candidate Chance Trahan And He's Officially Had Enough

LOS ANGELES - April 18, 2020 - PRLog -- Ever since Unofficial Sheriff At Large of Clark County, Las Vegas, Nevada, Chance Trahan, started investigating the case of Hillary Clinton, the Deep State hasn't let up on the cyberstalking, constant harassment and interference of the Nonpartisan Presidential Candidate's personal life.

"Who in their right mind torments someone so badly that they have no other choice but to run for President just to protect themselves? I've been put through so many excruciating situations that most people would've committed suicide. The things that happen to me is something you see in a horror film. Several horror films at that," the Sheriff exclaims.

"You ever seen the movie Misery? That's what living with Ashley Lynn Moore of Tempe, Arizona is like. She lied to me about the baby being mine. Her first born belongs to a local drug dealer named Jonathan. I used to buy my weed from him. She allegedly traded narcotics that she'd steal from patients at the hospital on Shea in Scottsdale for meth. I called and reported this to the nursing board and staff, and she's still employed there from what I understand. She would claim that patients refused their medications and then she'd pocket the drugs instead of throwing them away like she's supposed to do. Her patients would be so pissed off that they would try to kill her right there in the hospital, and she'd have to call security just to have the patient strapped down to their bed against their will. Imagine that, restrained against your will because of something she's doing. Which sounds a lot like this Coronavirus lockdown situation to be quite honest," Chance says.

"I allege that with the help of incumbent Senator, Martha McSally, she made my life hell. She threw me in jail claiming spousal abuse when she was the one abusing me, and I've got several witnesses to prove my claims. She's got one friend who's willing to lie for her, that's it. She tore the kids out of my life and then threw me in jail, again, just so she could have 100% custody. How greedy is that? Even more recently, Ashley, along with the help of several others associated with Hillary Clinton's Deep State are harassing and cyberstalking me to no end. Between Alaskan reporter Greg Knight and the Juneau Police Chief that I threatened to put under arrest for Gross Neglect, Ed Mercer, I'm seeing no end to any of this in-sight. I'll have you know that this "Chief," Ed Mercer, did whatever he could do to have me arrested on a warrant out of Las Vegas that's non-extraditable," Sheriff Trahan closes with.
